Hydro gear recommends 20w50 oil in their units, and that's the same trans as my buggy has. The creeping is caused by the selector being out of adjustment. With the engine OFF, look under the tractor, at the left side of the trans. Have someone move the pedal from forward, to reverse, & you'll see the bolt moving, up, & down. Loosen the bolt, and slide it, in the slot, to adjust to a neutral setting. It has a ...

The difference from manual gears is that the operator does not need to accelerate through the gears as if in a car. He/she would simply choose the speed and then work at that speed. Hydrostatic Drive Systems: This totally gear-free system uses hydraulic pumps to control the velocity and direction of the ride-on. Easy to use, the operator simply presses the pedal and the further down, or harder, it is pressed, the faster the ride-on or tractor moves.
